

Office Supplies

Go to iloveschools.com, type in your zip code, and find dozens of nearby classrooms in need of pencils, paper, markers, notebooks (as well as furniture, books, backpacks, video cameras, fans, space heaters, and much more)—and take a bite out of the average $500 teachers are forced to spend out-of-pocket each year for these items.

Goodnight Moon— or Twilight

The Children's Book Project has helped thousands of disadvantaged children learn to read by giving more than 1.5 million books to schools, homeless shelters, and community centers. Any gently used children's book can be donated—whether a board book for infants or a novel for teens. (childrensbookproject.org)

Musical Instruments

Music in Schools Today has been helping to provide music education to K-12 students in the San Francisco Bay Area since 1983 and places some 200 donated instruments with needy schools each year through its Adopt an Instrument program. (mustcreate.org)

► Soccer Shoes

Peacepassers.org collects gently used soccer equipment—balls, shoes, team sets of last year's jerseys—and distributes it to communities in need around the world. Contact peacepassersinfo@gmail.com for information on a shipment location near you.
